News Around the Dials

Seeger a Cash Guest

By VAL ADAMS

Pete Seeger, the folk singer barred from an ABC-TV program in 1963 because he refused to sign a loyalty affidavit, will be a guest on the network's Johnny Cash Show on Wednesday, March 4, at 9 p.m.

For the Cash show, taped last Thursday in Nashville, Tenn., Seeger sang "Worried Man's Blues" and another song about the plight of the American Indians in the 1830s. There were no songs of social protests or political beliefs.

Cash had wanted to present Seeger on his show last summer, but ABC refused permission, according to Cash. In a personality piece about the country music singer published in The New York Sunday News on Feb. 1, Cash was quoted as saying: "I wanted Pete on my program, and still don't understand why they didn't permit it."

Stan Jacobson, a co-producer of the Cash Show, said yesterday there was "never any problem" in booking Seeger this season. Even so, the ABC announcement about Seeger's appearance referred to him as "controversial."

"The controversial folk scholar," said a paragraph in the press release, "once was given a prison sentence (later rescinded) because he cited the First Amendment which guarantees freedom of speech and association rather than to discuss his political beliefs."

In 1955 Seeger refused to answer questions posed by a Congressional committee that was checking on Communist infiltration of the entertainment field. He was convicted of contempt of Congress, but the United States Court of Appeals reversed the decision.

Seeger was barred from an ABC-TV show entitled Hootenanny in 1963 because he would not furnish a "sworn affidavit as to his past and present affiliations."

Talent contracts between CBS and Lucille Ball and Ed Sullivan expire at the end of the 1970-71 television season. . . . CBS-TV, which announced it will retain To Rome With Love and switch it to Tuesday evening next fall, will make changes in the show to try to attract more viewers. One change is likely to be a cast addition of Walter Brennan.

Walter Brennan

over ABC-TV on March 5, suffer the same fate as Paulsen did on "The Return of the Smothers Brothers" over NBC-TV? On the NBC special, Paulsen in initial planning was to be a guest and at the end of the show, Tom Smothers thanked him for his appearance although Pat never appeared.

SUBJECT: RE: PETE GERGER
(SINGER) (LOUIS BUDENZ 400)
SECURITY MATTER - C9-1
10-1

LOUIS F. BUDENZ, formerly managing editor of the "Daily Worker" and a Communist Party functionary until he broke with the Party in October, 1945 has been interviewed during the past few months concerning the concealed Communists whom he knew. The person named above as the subject of this case, was one of those individuals whom BUDENZ described as a concealed Communist. BUDENZ describes a concealed Communist as one who does not hold himself out as a Communist and who would deny membership in the Party.

BUDENZ advised SA WILLIAM J. MC CARTHY, JR. on June 30, 1950, of all he knew concerning the subject, that he felt was pertinent, and he dictated this information to a stenographer of this office, who was present during the interview.

He used, in order to bring out all he knew about the subject, the following set of questions. He considered all questions in connection with this subject. Where he did not comment on some particular question as to the activity of the subject, then it is because he had no knowledge. If he recalled anything about the subject as a result of these questions he dictated what he knew. The questions are as follows:

1. Identify individual
 - a. If observed a description and other identifying data;
 - b. If not seen, enough descriptive data about individual to positively identify him or her;
 - c. Any aliases
2. Narrate how he knows individual as a Communist
 - a. If seen at a closed meeting, get date, place and persons present at meeting;
 - b. If told officially that individual was a Communist, who said it, what were the circumstances, and who was present;
 - c. Relate all occasions when he met or heard of individual as Communist.
3. Documents
 - a. Did individual ever write anything that might be considered Communist literature.
 1. For "Daily Worker", "New Masses", "Political Affairs", any any front publications or other publications.

The original of each memo has been reviewed by Mr. BUDENZ and he has made any necessary corrections and he has signed the original. The signed original of each memo is being retained in the confidential informant file of LOUIS F. BUDENZ, NY file 62-8988.

Since the individuals such as the subject of this case are, according to BUDENZ, concealed Communists and since they are, in most instances, persons of some prominence, it is suggested that if the information appearing in the attached blind memo is reported, then Mr. BUDENZ should be given a temporary confidential informant symbol.

For the information of the Bureau the subject is one of the 400 concealed Communists whom BUDENZ stated he knew. The names of these concealed Communists were sent to the Bureau in the case captioned "Communist Party, USA, Internal Security - C".

PETE SEEGER

Folk singer.

Although I am under the impression that SEEGER, along with OSCAR BRAND, entertained the Convention of the Communist Party in a closed dinner session in honor of MOTHER BLOOR around 1944, I was first advised of his membership in the Communist Party by ALEXANDER TRACHTENBERG and V. J. JEROME in 1945. This arose because of his growing cooperation with EARL ROBINSON, particularly in the People's Songs venture.

4. One of Subject's acquaintances is of the opinion that Subject is in sympathy with the Communist cause, may possibly be a member of the Communist party, and stated that Subject has often attended Communist party meetings (MEMO G).
5. One of Subject's acquaintances is reported, from a reliable source, to be a self-confessed Communist, ardent in his love for the Communist teachings of Russia, and capable of and likely to influence anyone evincing any interest in Communism (MEMO L).
6. Subject was the leader of the Almanac Singers (See MEMO J this report and CI-R1 Report this office dated 25 March 1945). On 1 January 1945 an article appeared in the New York World Telegram quoting the Daily Worker as stating that the Almanac Singers are the pride of the Communist party. (See MEMO M, CI-R1 Report re Subject dated 7 June 1945 made at Hq. 2nd Service Command).

UNDEVELOPED LEADS:

None.

REMARKS AND CONCLUSIONS:

See CI-R1 Report dated 25 March 1945.

Subject transferred in grade to Amarillo Army Air Field, Amarillo, Texas, pursuant to Paragraph 38, Special Orders 211, Headquarters, Keesler Field, Mississippi, dated 30 July 1945.

The adverse information shown in this report serves to supplement and enhance that contained in preceding reports. It shows Subject to be an idealist whose devotion to radical ideologies is such as to make his loyalty to the United States under all circumstances questionable.

This Officer believes that Subject will be further influenced along questionable lines by his new wife, the former Toshi Ohta, who is half-Japanese. Subject's devotion to his wife was so strong before their marriage that he protested what he considered to be the improper treatment of American-born Japanese. (See Reason For Investigation). Correspondence between the two indicated that both Subject and his then fiancée were deeply interested in political trends, particularly anti-Fascist, and that she was a member of several Communist infiltrated organizations. Their marriage will quite possibly fuse and strengthen their individual radical tendencies.

Investigation at this station from 25 March 1943 to date hereof has produced no evidence which would lead this Officer to change the opinion set forth in the original CI-RI Report that Subject is potentially subversive.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

This Officer recommends that the case be closed at this Station for the reason that Subject has transferred to Amarillo Air Field, Amarillo, Texas.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE OFFICER IN CHARGE

Subject: SNEIDER, Peter, Pvt.,
ASN 54335466,
2nd Academic Squadron,
Keosler Field, Mississippi.

Re: Interview with John E. Bell,
1st Sergeant, ASN 56117504.

On 2 August 1943, this Special Operator interviewed First Sergeant John E. Bell regarding Subject.

Informant stated that he was the First Sergeant of the 2nd Academic Squadron, and had known Subject since about 1 June 1943.

Informant stated that Subject went to New York on furlough during the latter part of July, 1943; that Subject returned to the 2nd Academic Squadron on 31 July 1943; that immediately upon his return, Subject came to the Orderly Room and stated to Informant that he, Subject, had married while at home and had brought his wife back to Biloxi, Mississippi; that Subject applied for permission to live off the Post, but upon being informed that he was about to be transferred to another Post, Subject pursued his application no further.

Special Operator's Note:

Due to Subject's transfer the records at this Station reveal no change in Subject's marital status. However, mail coverage and investigations conducted by this Operator show that Subject planned to marry Miss Toshi Ohta while on furlough. Toshi Ohta returned to Biloxi, Mississippi with Subject so it is, therefore, presumed by this Operator that Subject is now married to Toshi Ohta. (See Memo F and G, CI-R1 dated 9 June 1943, submitted by Hq. 2nd Service Command.)

Re : Attempted interview with former teachers of
Spring Hill Grammar School, Litchfield, Conn.

On 26 April 1943 this Agent visited the Foreman School, Litchfield, Connecticut, formerly known as the Spring Hill Grammar School, regarding information of Subject's attendance.

The available records of the Foreman School did not cover the period of Subject's attendance, and no member of the present faculty were connected with the School during that period.

It was noted that the Spring Hill Grammar School was conducted by one Mrs. Mabel Spinney and Miss Dorothy Bull and was taken over some years ago by the present owners. Further investigation disclosed that Miss Bull was deceased and Mrs. Spinney had changed her residence to New York and maintained a summer home in West Cornwall, Connecticut.

To this date, Mrs. Spinney had not returned to her Summer home, and inasmuch as Subject attended this School at a very young age, it is doubtful that the information obtained would be of any value.

Re : Education check -
Avon Old Farm High School

On 23 April 1943 this Agent checked the records at Avon Old Farm High School, Avon, Connecticut and interviewed Dean Sears regarding Subject.

Sears informed this Agent that Subject attended the aforementioned school from 1932 to 1936, and that he remembered Subject well. Sears added that Subject was a nephew of Allan Seeger (American Poet of World War fame) and that Subject possessed unusual literary talents. Sears continued that while Subject attended the Avon School he was the founder and editor of a small school newspaper which gained popularity and is at present widely read by the alumni.

In describing Subject, Sears said that he was an introvertive, shy, reticent type, physically weak and for these reasons was not popular with his fellow students. Sears was of the impression that Subject's parents were estranged and that Subject's home life and environment were not desirable. Sears, however, held great respect for Subject's mentality and stated that in his opinion Subject was completely honest and reliable. Subject is believed to have attended Harvard University after leaving Avon Old Farm High School.

In further discussing Subject's background, Sears stated that Subject called on him about three years after leaving the Avon School. At that time, Sears said that Subject appeared to have assumed a "Bohemian" attitude in dress and appearance. From this visit, Sears concluded that Subject had developed a somewhat radical outlook on life.

Sears did not feel that Subject was in any way dangerous, but he did suspect that Subject had aligned himself with the so-called radical element of Harvard University.

Re : Inspection of records at Harvard University

On 27 May 1943, this Agent visited University Hall, Harvard Yard, Cambridge, Mass., to examine Subject's scholastic record.

Examination of these records revealed that Subject entered Harvard College in September, 1936, successfully completed the first year, returned for the sophomore year in the fall of 1937, but did not complete the second year, being 'allowed to withdraw' because of financial troubles 12 April 1938. Grades in the first year were fair. No credit was received for the work of the second year.

Major field of concentration was to be Sociology.

These records contain a note that Subject's mother and father are separated. Mother's address is given as:

Constance DeClyver (Edson) Seeger
75 South Broadway
Nyack, New York.

In March, 1938 Subject was placed on probation for 'cutting' classes and for unsatisfactory work. In April, he was allowed to withdraw. Reason: financial troubles.

A further notation shows that a record of Subject's marks was sent to City College of New York.

Re : Inspection of records, Harvard University

On 28 May 1943, this Agent visited the office of the Supervisor of Undergraduate Non-Athletic Activities, University Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., to ascertain if Subject was a member of The Harvard Student Union.

This Agent personally examined a list of members of the Harvard Student Union, dated November, 1937, on which appeared the Subject's name followed by the word 'Secretary'.

AGENT'S NOTE: Examination of 'The Harvard Progressive', published by the Progressive Committee of the Harvard Student Union and the official organ of the Student Union, shows that Subject was listed on its staff as Secretary.

The Harvard Student Union (not to be confused with the Harvard Union, which is officially a part of the University) represents an amalgamation of organizations which reflects the liberal sentiment of the college. It is a chapter of the American Student Union. It came into existence in 1935 by the fusion of a number of organizations, including the Peace Society, League for Industrial Democracy, and The National Student League.

Re: Interview with Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith

On 15 June 1948, this Agent interviewed Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith, Wayne University, Cass and Warren, Detroit, Michigan, Director of Student Activities, in an effort to learn if she knew anything about Subject or a group known as the Almanac Singers, in connection with the disaffection investigation of PETER SENECA to determine the loyalty of Subject, who wrote a letter protesting and criticizing the California American Legion's resolution advocating deportation of all Japanese, as requested by the Director, Intelligence Division, Fourth Service Command.

Informant stated a group by the name of the Almanac Singers had performed several times at Wayne University, rendering hill-billy songs and American folk music. The group had last appeared at Wayne University on 17 February 1948. She believed this group had performed in various labor unions throughout the city, and were very much interested in labor unions, as most of the students at Wayne interested in labor attended the concerts and were responsible for their appearance.

Informant could give no other information about this group, had not heard of any PETER BOWERS or PETER SENECA, and did not know the names of the four or five members of the band.

Re : Interview with Pvt. Morton Diamondstein.

On 5 June 1943 this Agent interviewed Pvt. Morton Diamondstein, ASN 32623009, Hq. Btry. 387th P.A. Bn., APO 104, Camp Adair, Oregon, regarding Subject, Peter SEEGER. This interview was made in pursuance to a request received by the Portland Branch, AG of S, G-2, WDC & FA from the AG of S, G-2, WDC & FA in a letter dated 27 April 1943.

Diamondstein advised this Agent that he had become acquainted with Subject about four years ago in New York City. Subject, to the best of his knowledge, was born in New York City and attended Harvard University for a short time. Subject was a musician by profession, played the banjo very well and collected and composed folk music. Diamondstein stated that Subject traveled around the country most of the time collecting folk music and entertaining with his music. Subject's parents are divorced, his mother lives some place in Florida, and his father works for the Library of Congress, Music Division in Washington, D. C. Diamondstein had met the father on several occasions but knew nothing about the rest of Subject's family.

Diamondstein explained that he became acquainted with Subject through the Youth Workshop of which they were both members. He explained that the Youth Workshop was an organization of about 100 members in New York who were interested in cultural work. He explained that the organization had space rented where they would hold meetings and organize entertainment groups, both musical and dramatic. The organization also produced posters and other types of displays. The Youth Workshop was affiliated with the American Youth Congress and their posters and displays were produced for distribution by the latter organization, and their entertainment groups were organized for the purpose of conducting tours under the auspices of the American Youth Congress. Diamondstein stated that he was an artist and that his part in the organization was the production of posters, but that Subject as a musician was instrumental in composing music and organizing entertainment groups for the Youth Workshop. Diamondstein explained that the Youth Workshop originally had its headquarters at 66 E. 8th Street in New York, but that they later moved to 44 W. 18th Street in the same city.

According to Diamondstein, the Youth Workshop as an affiliate of the American Youth Congress was in accord with the policies of that organization and was active in the dissemination of these policies. He explained that the American Youth Congress advocated government subsidized education and training of the Youth of the country, especially in the cultural fields. The American

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Youth Congress was also opposed to war; according to Dimondstein, and Subject, as far as he knew, was fully in accord with the policy of the organization.

Dimondstein stated that he had recently received a letter from Subject in which Subject had expressed the opinion that he was not being shipped overseas because of his association with a Japanese girl. Dimondstein explained that he had met this girl once in Subject's home in New York and that he always knew her as "Togi" but that he believed her true name was Toshi Ohta. He explained that Toshi was a Japanese girl who was born in Berlin, and that he knew nothing about her except that she was in the dress business some place in New York. Dimondstein stated that he understood that Subject was engaged to Toshi and intended to marry her sometime.

Dimondstein, when asked if he knew to what organizations Subject belonged, stated that he was a member of the Youth Workshop, the Almanac Players (a musical organization), and possibly a member of the Communist party. He admitted that he was not certain of the latter but stated that Subject often attended Communist meetings and in his opinion Subject was in sympathy with the Communist cause. Dimondstein also stated that he himself had attended many Communist meetings and had a number of friends who were Communists, but that he had never become a member of the organization. Dimondstein, in explaining the reasons for Subject's Communist leanings, stated that it must be realized that he was only speaking from his own experience and what he knew of Subject, but that in his opinion Subject was only interested in the Communist party from the standpoint of securing their backing for a program of subsidization of the cultural professions such as artists and musicians. He explained that in his opinion this was the basis of most artists' interest in the Communist party as under their program the artist had an opportunity to produce his works without worry of starving to death, as they were subsidized by the government for such work.

Dimondstein stated that there was no question in his mind but that Subject was entirely loyal and that he felt that he understood him well enough to know that he was practical enough to realize that this war, however distasteful it may be, must be fought and won before attention could be given to anything else. He explained that the American Youth Congress had dissolved upon the outbreak of war because its policies were inconsistent with the prosecution of the war and could not function under wartime conditions.

AGENT'S NOTES: Dimondstein, when discussing himself as well as Subject, appeared to be frank, and in the opinion of this Agent, was not attempting to withhold any information regarding Subject or Subject's activities. He was not hesitant to discuss his opinions, nor to admit his affiliations with the Communist party or the American Youth Congress, and in the opinion of this Agent, the information obtained from him can be considered reliable.

Re : Interview with Miss Dorcas Bishop, Supervisor of Subject's part-time work.

On 28 May 1943, this Agent interviewed Miss Dorcas Bishop, Librarian, Harvard Graduate School of Education, Cambridge, Mass., regarding Subject.

Bishop stated that Subject was employed on a part time basis for about six months from September, 1943 while he was a sophomore at Harvard College.

After stating that Subject's work was entirely satisfactory, Bishop stated that he was 'modern' in his political ideas. When asked to expand on this point, Bishop said that Subject seemed to have radical ideas, with a strong leaning toward Communism. She continued by saying that Subject was strong-willed and highly opinionated in his views. Subject's brother, John Seeger, who was also at this time a student employee at the same library, had expressed concern, Bishop said, over the fact that the so-called progressive school which Subject had attended had not done him any good. Bishop stated that in this statement and others similar to it, John seemed to show dissatisfaction with Subject's liberal, progressive political ideas.

Bishop concluded by saying that in March or April, 1938, she heard that Subject had withdrawn from the college and that he was living 'on his own' in Boston. She added that she knew nothing of Subject's extra-curricular activities or of his acquaintances.

Re: Interview with Mrs. L. Gilbreath

On 15 June 1945, this Agent interviewed Mrs. L. Gilbreath, housewife, 5521 Cass Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, acquaintance of Subject, in connection with the disaffection investigation of PETER SEEGER to determine the loyalty of Subject, who wrote a letter protesting and criticizing the California American Legion's resolution advocating deportation of all Japanese, as requested by the Director, Intelligence Division, Fourth Service Command.

Informant stated she had never heard of a man by the name of PETER SEEGER, but that she had met a man by the name of PETER BOWERS, in April, 1942, who was the leader of a group of singers, four in number, called the Almanac Singers. This group had arrived from New York City to give a concert at the Art Institute, Detroit, Michigan, and had come to the Gilbreath Record Shop through the recommendation of a friend of theirs, who was a customer at informant's record shop, in order to store their instruments. Mrs. Gilbreath could not recall who the name of this customer was.

After the concert at the Art Institute, the Almanac Singers stored their instruments at the Record Shop, and went away for a period of about two weeks. They came back to Detroit, and had with them a girl by the name of Bess Lomax, who is the daughter of John Lomax, eminent musician who has made a deep and intensive study of American folk music. Informant remembered Miss Lomax particularly since her father was a famous musician. The four members of the Almanac Singers were PETER, the leader, Art, Hutch, and Joe, all surnamed BOWERS. Informant asked whether they were all related, and PETER BOWERS replied that the name had been chosen to be used by all of the singers. Mrs. Gilbreath, therefore, had never heard their real names, with the exception of Bess Lomax.

PETER BOWERS was described as about 6'0" in height, slender, about 140 lbs., reddish hair, bluish complexion, about 22 years of age, rather sloppy in appearance, but very courteous and friendly, and quiet mannered. He appeared to be very intelligent, and had an inexhaustible knowledge of American Folk music, and liked to talk about it very much. The only times informant would see PETER BOWERS would be when the group came for their instruments.

Informant stated she had never heard of the group before they came to her record shop to store their instruments, and that the only times she would see them was when they would call for their instruments, and any discussion they would have would be incidental. She believes she has seen the group for possibly seven or eight times, and she further stated she has no reason to doubt the loyalty and honesty of PETER BOWERS, as she had never heard anything to make her believe otherwise. Mrs. Gilbreath further stated that she had never had any discussion with PETER BOWERS along political lines, and that their only topic of conversation when she saw him would be about music.

AGENT'S NOTE: Mr. L. Gilbreath was not at home, and will not be back for a couple of weeks; he is an auditor and his work takes him out of town a great deal. Mrs. Gilbreath believes that he would know less about the group and PETER BOWERS than she, as he was seldom at home when they called for their instruments. Mrs. Gilbreath appeared to be honest and sincere in her statements, although she had difficulty in recalling specific incidents, and knew the group very vaguely.

Re : Interview with H. Bannister

On 12 May 1943, this Agent interviewed H. Bannister, manager, Radio Station WWJ, 620 W. Lafayette, Detroit, Michigan, who is a brother-in-law of Julian Bercovici, an acquaintance of Subject, in connection with the disaffection investigation of PETER SNEGER to determine the loyalty of Subject, who wrote a letter protesting and criticizing the California American Legion's resolution advocating deportation of all Japanese, as requested by the Director, Intelligence Division, Fourth Service Command.

Informant stated he has known Bercovici for about two years, and that Bercovici was a self-confessed Communist, was ardent in his love for Russia, the Russian people, and the Communist teachings of Russia, and for all Communist ideology.

Bercovici was described as 5'7", 140 lbs., very dark hair, dark complexion, and that he was about 26 years of age. Bercovici was said to be of a rather pleasant appearance, very unassuming in his ways, shy and retiring by nature. He was born in New York.

Informant stated Bercovici married his sister about two years ago in New York, and they have a baby boy. Bercovici's father is a radio news commentator in Rochester, New York, and is said to have been born in Rumania.

Informant believed Bercovici to be a college graduate, that he had taken a Liberal Arts course, but that he had no practical education to help him earn his living.

Bercovici has been employed by two or three war plants in Detroit, doing menial labor, and is believed to be now engaged in war work at some war plant in Detroit. Informant had heard him mention the name of the plant, but had forgotten it.

Informant stated Bercovici has been living at 5757 Second Boulevard for about a year, and that he recommended Bercovici to the owners as far as his honesty was concerned when he moved into the apartment.

Informant did not think that Bercovici was a member of the Communist Party, stating that he seemed too shy to join the Party and take an active part in its meetings.

Berecivici is very much interested in music, although he does not play any musical instrument. His love for all Russian music was particularly apparent. Informant did not know of any connection Berecivici may have had with the Almanac Singers, and had never heard of an organization by that name. Berecivici has roomers, and they may or may not have some connection with that Society.

Informant was of the opinion that Berecivici's whole education was one-sided. He imagined that Berecivici had studied and learned about Communism in College, and had from that time on only read and studied one side of the story, and that he probably did not read or study anything but Communism. Berecivici's whole attitude was immature, and he would not acknowledge any other form of government but Communistic, and when informant and he would get into arguments, Berecivici had only one thought, that Communism was the only salvation for the world.

Informant had spent about five evenings with Berecivici since he came to Detroit, and all of the evenings were wasted in a useless attempt to reform Berecivici's way of thinking. Informant stated he had become disgusted, and would use any means he could to get out of seeing Berecivici, as he felt he was wasting his time, that he would never be able to change Berecivici's Communistic leanings.

Informant believed that Berecivici was a deep thinker, but that he only thought along one line, that he was an introvert, and was frustrated because of his inability to do anything but common labor.

Berecivici did not have the necessary ambition to become a real manasse to the American way of life. Informant had at one time thought of turning him in to the FBI for an investigation, when he stated he was working in a war factory, but informant had thought later that Berecivici was harmless, and that he didn't think he would hurt anyone.

Berecivici not only professed his belief in Communism in regards to Communism for the United States, but loved Russia, her people, her institutions, her army, and her way of life. He definitely wanted to see Germany defeated, but only because Germany was a menace to Russia, and not because Germany was a menace to the United States. Informant believed that if Russia had sided with Germany, Berecivici would still be all for Russia, and wouldn't think anything of betraying the United States.

Berecivici was capable of influencing anyone that had a tendency to agree with him, and informant believed if anyone showed any interest in Communism, he would leave no stone unturned to persuade that person that Communism was the only form of government the world should know. Berecivici would have no friends who disagreed with his way of thinking.

On 17 June 1943, this Agent interviewed Wm. Informant stated Bercovici has been working as instrument adjuster for about six months at the Terstedt Division of the General Motors Corporation and that prior to this time he worked at the Detroit Transmission for a month as lathe operator, resigning from that position because it was not his line of work. Bercovici also worked at the Packard Motor Company for a few months, but was laid off for some unknown reason. He also worked as optical inspector for Bausch and Lomb, in Rochester, New York, prior to his coming to Detroit in 1941.

Bercovici was described as 5'6" tall, 130 lbs., very dark hair and dark, sallow complexion, appearing rather sickly. He has been late many mornings, and has been absent from work quite a few times, claiming sickness. Informant was of the opinion that he did not get much sleep, for he has had to waken Bercovici several times at his bench.

Informant stated that Bercovici was born in New York, and attended the University of New York, graduating with a Bachelor of Music degree, and that his mother was born in Bucharest, Hungary, and his father, who is a radio news commentator, was born in New York. Bercovici is married, and has one child.

Bain stated that Bercovici is a very mild mannered and timid person, very shy, and when asked about anything is very inquisitive and wishes to know why he is being questioned. He was described as being very sharp and intelligent.

Informant had never observed any tendency of Bercovici to lean toward Communism, but stated that he was a queer sort of person, and was one who undoubtedly though very deeply without saying much, and has been noticed going home with several persons who are quite active in the union, and who it is believed have a Communistic turn of mind.

Informant would not venture to say anything about Bercovici's honesty or loyalty, as he has had no opportunity to discuss things with him, but it was his personal opinion that he would bear watching, but that he had not shown any disloyal traits while working for Terstedt.

AGENT'S NOTE: Informant has been observing Bercovici since he started to work for him, as he seemed to be a very peculiar individual, and informant knew quite a bit about him, as he wanted to know something of Bercovici's background in view of his peculiar actions and looks. SUBJECT: Peter Soeger, Pvt.

1. On May 1, 1943, this officer interviewed 2nd Lt. Alan Swartz (0793455) A.C., in regards to investigation concerning PETER SOEGER, (34335466) Pvt., 307th Tech. Sch. Sq., Keesler Field, Mississippi, as requested by the Director, Intelligence Division, Headquarters, Fourth Service Command.

2. Lt. Swartz states that he has known subject for several years both socially and in business. Subject belonged to a musical group in New York City called the Almanac Singers; a group of professional singers specializing in folk songs and various types of singing entertainment. Subject is believed to have done quite a bit of research work for the Library of Congress in recording of folk songs. Lt. Swartz states that very often they sang lyric songs made up by themselves before labor union rallies and organizing meetings. Several songs were of an anti-war nature prior to Pearl Harbor.

3. Lt. Swartz further states that subject was estranged from his family who were active in the Pan-American union. His mother is a music teacher and composer.

4. Subject is believed to be engaged to a girl in New York of Japanese-American parentage. The father, Ohta; the mother is white, American, maiden name Perry. They have two children, a boy, Osmi, and a daughter, Toshi. Lt. Swartz knows the family very well with the exception of the father who is very oriental in appearance, actions and talk. He does not know whether the father is pro or anti-Japanese but states that the mother and children are definitely anti-Japanese and have done a great deal of work for the China Relief effort. Subject has discussed with Lt. Swartz the possibility of marriage with Toshi including the racial aspects concerned.

5. When war was declared and the alien round-up took place in New York, the family went into hiding for fear of being deported or confined as aliens. Because of this, subject felt that his Japanese friends were being unduly persecuted and so stated to Lt. Swartz.

6. Lt. Swartz does not know of any Communistic or Socialistic tendencies on the part of subject and believes subject to be 100% American though rather immature and inclined to be a little drastic in his talk.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE OFFICER IN CHARGE

Subject: PETER SEEGER, ASN 34835466, Pvt.,

Re: Interview with Private Morton Dimondstein.

On 5 June 1943 this Agent interviewed Pvt. Morton Dimondstein, ASN 52628009, Hq. Btry. 367th P.A. Bn., APO 104, Camp Adair, Oregon, regarding Subject, PETER SEEGER. This interview was made in pursuance to a request received by the Portland Branch, AC of S, G-2, WDC & FA from the AC of S, G-2, WDC & FA in a letter dated April 27, 1943.

Dimondstein advised this Agent that he had become acquainted with Subject about four years ago in New York City. Subject to the best of his knowledge was born in New York City and attended Harvard University for a short time. Subject was a musician by profession, played the banjo very well and collected and composed folk music. Dimondstein stated that Subject travelled around the country most of the time collecting folk music and entertaining with his music. Subject's parents are divorced, his mother lives someplace in Florida and his father works for the Library of Congress, Music Division in Washington, D. C. Dimondstein had met the father on several occasions but knew nothing about the rest of Subject's family.

Dimondstein explained that he became acquainted with Subject through the Youth Workshop of which they were both members. He explained that the Youth Workshop was an organization of about 100 members in New York who were interested in cultural work. He explained that the organization had space rented where they would hold meetings and organize entertainment groups, both musical and dramatic. The organization also produced posters and other types of displays. The Youth Workshop was affiliated with the American Youth Congress and their posters and displays were produced for distribution by the latter organization, and their entertainment groups were organized for the purpose of conducting tours under the auspices of the American Youth Congress. Dimondstein stated that he was an artist and that his part in the organization was the production of posters, but that Subject as a musician was instrumental in composing music and organizing entertainment groups for the Youth Workshop. Dimondstein explained that the Youth Workshop originally had its headquarters at 66 E. 8th Street in New York, but that they later moved to 44 W. 18th Street in the same city.

According to Dimondstein, the Youth Workshop as an affiliate of the American Youth Congress was in accord with the policies of that organization and was active in the dissemination of these policies. He explained that the American Youth Congress advocated government subsidized education and training of the Youth of the country, especially in the cultural fields.

MIS. DIST. W. H. B.

W. B.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

The American Youth Congress was also apposed to war, according to Dimondstein, and Subject, as far as he knew, was fully in accord with the policy of the organization.

Dimondstein stated that he had recently received a letter from Subject in which Subject had expressed the opinion that he was not being shipped overseas because of his association with a Japanese girl. Dimondstein explained that he had met this girl once in Subject's home in New York and that he always knew her as "Togi" but that he believed her true name was Toshi Ohta. He explained that Toshi was a Japanese girl who was born in Berlin, and that he knew nothing about her except that she was in the dress business someplace in New York. Dimondstein stated that he understood that Subject was engaged to Toshi and intended to marry her sometime.

Dimondstein, when asked if he knew/what organizations Subject belonged, stated that he was a member of the Youth Workshop, the Almanac Players (a musical organization), and possibly a member of the Communist party. He admitted that he was not certain of the latter but stated that Subject often attended communist meetings and in his opinion Subject was in sympathy with the communist cause. Dimondstein also stated that he himself had attended many communist meetings and had a number of friends who were communists, but that he had never become a member of the organization. Dimondstein in explaining the reasons for Subject's communistic leanings stated that it must be realized that he was only speaking from his own experience and what he knew of Subject, but that in his opinion Subject was only interested in the communistic party from the standpoint of securing their backing for a program of subsidization of the cultural professions such as artists and musicians. He explained that in his opinion this was the basis of most artists' interest in the communist party as under their program the artist had an opportunity to produce his works without worry of starving to death, as they were subsidized by the government for such work.

Dimondstein stated that there was no question in his mind but that Subject was entirely loyal and that he felt that he understood him well enough to know that he was practical enough to realize that this war, however distasteful it may be, must be fought and won before attention could be given to anything else. He explained that the American Youth Congress had dissolved upon the outbreak of war because its policies were inconsistent with the prosecution of the war and could not function under wartime conditions.

AGENT'S NOTES: Dimondstein when discussing himself as well as Subject appeared to be frank, and in the opinion of this Agent, was not attempting to withhold any information regarding Subject or Subject's activities. He was not hesitant to discuss his opinions, nor to admit his affiliations with the Communist party or the American Youth Congress, and in the opinion of this Agent the information obtained from him can be considered reliable.

RE: Inspection of records, Harvard University

On May 28, 1943, this Agent visited the office of the Supervisor of Undergraduate Non-Athletic Activities, University Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., to ascertain if Subject was a member of The Harvard Student Union.

This Agent personally examined a list of members of the Harvard Student Union, dated November, 1937, on which appeared the Subject's name followed by the word 'Secretary'.

AGENT'S NOTE: Examination of 'The Harvard Progressive', published by the Progressive Committee of the Harvard Student Union and the official organ of the Student Union, shows that Subject was listed on its staff as Secretary.

The Harvard Student Union (not to be confused with the Harvard Union, which is officially a part of the University) represents an amalgamation of organizations which reflects the liberal sentiment of the college. It is a chapter of the American Student Union. It came into existence in 1935 by the fusion of a number of organizations, including the Peace Society, League for Industrial Democracy, and The National Student League.

Re: Education check -
Avon Old Farm High School

On April 23, 1943 this Agent checked the records at Avon Old Farm High School, Avon, Connecticut and interviewed Dean Sears regarding Subject.

Sears informed this Agent that Subject attended the aforementioned school from 1932 to 1936, and that he remembered Subject well. Sears added that Subject was a nephew of Allan Seeger (American Poet of World War fame) and that Subject possessed unusual literary talents. Sears continued that while Subject attended the Avon School he was the founder and editor of a small school newspaper which gained popularity and is at present widely read by the alumni.

In describing Subject, Sears said that he was an introvertive, shy reticent type, physically weak and for these reasons was not popular with his fellow students. Sears was of the impression that Subject's parents were estranged and that Subject's home life and environment were not desirable. Sears, however, held great respect for Subject's mentality and stated that in his opinion Subject was completely honest and reliable. Subject is believed to have attended Harvard University after leaving Avon Old Farm High School.

In further discussing Subject's background, Sears stated that Subject called on him about three years after leaving the Avon School. At that time, Sears said that Subject appeared to have assumed a "Bohemian" attitude in dress and appearance. From this visit, Sears concluded that Subject had developed a somewhat radical outlook on life.

Sears did not feel that Subject was in any way dangerous, but he did suspect that Subject had alligned himself with the so-called radical element of Harvard University.

Re: Attempted interview with former teachers of
Spring Hill Grammar School, Litchfield, Conn.

On April 26, 1943 this Agent visited the Foreman School, Litchfield, Connecticut, formerly known as the Spring Hill Grammar School, regarding information of Subject's attendance.

The available records of the Foreman School did not cover the period of Subject's attendance, and no member of the present faculty were connected with the School during that period.

It was noted that the Spring Hill Grammar School was conducted by one Mrs. Mabel Spinney and Miss Dorothy Bull and was taken over some years ago by the present owners. Further investigation disclosed that Miss Bull was deceased and Mrs. Spinney had changed her residence to New York and maintained a summer home in West Cornwall, Connecticut.

To this date, Mrs. Spinney had not returned to her Summer home, and inasmuch as Subject attended this School at a very young age, it is doubtful that the information obtained would be of any value.

RE: Inspection of records at Harvard University

On May 27, 1943, this Agent visited University Hall, Harvard Yard, Cambridge, Mass., to examine Subject's scholastic record.

Examination of these records revealed that Subject entered Harvard College in September, 1936, successfully completed the first year, returned for the sophomore year in the fall of 1937, but did not complete the second year, being 'allowed to withdraw' because of financial troubles April 12, 1938. Grades in the first year were fair. No credit was received for the work of the second year.

Major field of concentration was to be Sociology.

These records contain a note that Subject's mother and father are separated. Mother's address is given as:

Constance DeClyver (Edson) Seeger
75 South Broadway
Nyack, New York.

In March, 1938 Subject was placed on probation for 'cutting' classes and for unsatisfactory work. In April, he was allowed to withdraw. Reason: financial troubles.

A further notation shows that a record of Subject's marks was sent to City College of New York.

RE: Interview with Miss Dorcas Bishop, Supervisor of Subject's part-time work.

On May 28, 1943, this Agent, interviewed Miss Dorcas Bishop, Librarian, Harvard Graduate School of Education, Cambridge, Mass., regarding Subject.

Bishop stated that Subject was employed on a part time basis for about six months from September, 1943 while he was a sophomore at Harvard College.

After stating that Subject's work was entirely satisfactory, Bishop stated that he was 'modern' in his political ideas. When asked to expand on this point, Bishop said that Subject seemed to have radical ideas, with a strong leaning toward Communism. She continued by saying that Subject was strong-willed and highly opinionated in his views. Subject's brother, John Seeger, who was also at this time a student employee at the same library, had expressed concern, Bishop said, over the fact that the so-called progressive school which Subject had attended had not done him any good. Bishop stated that in this statement and others similar to it, John seemed to show dissatisfaction with Subject's liberal, progressive political ideas.

Bishop concluded by saying that in March or April, 1938, she heard that Subject had withdrawn from the college and that he was living 'on his own' in Boston. She added that she knew nothing of Subject's extra-curricular activities or of his acquaintances.

Mr. Seeger stated he has received letters from Subject indicating the Subject was dissatisfied with his present position in the Army; that Subject wants to get an assignment to active duty where he can get into combat. It is Subject's father's opinion that Subject is being held back by the Army because of Subject's radical tendencies and associates; that Subject's father does not believe Subject is radical, but admits Subject has a liberal point of view.

Subject's father described Subject as being 24 years of age; slightly over six feet tall; weight, about 150 lbs.; thin, but wirey build; brown hair; blue eyes; fair complexion.

Mr. Seeger informed this Agent, Dave Taylor of Columbia Broadcasting System, 485 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. and Frank Luther of Decca Records Corporation, New York, N.Y. would be able to furnish considerable information relative to Subject, as Subject worked for them.

II SC

II SC

Informant stated Subject has had an album of records recorded under the title of "Mr. President", and also an album of sea songs was recorded by Subject for Decca Corporation.

II SC

Subject's father informed this Agent that he is an advisor to the Joint Army and Navy Committee on Music, and has had a letter written to the proper authority requesting the Subject be given an assignment where he could use his musical training. Subject, however, refused to accept this assignment, claiming that he wanted to become a good soldier first, then have his music as a secondary interest.

In conclusion, Subject's father admitted Subject had associated with radicals and questionable characters, however, Subject's father is of the opinion Subject is not a radical himself, but likes freedom of movement, and was not very choosy about his friends.

Upon the request of the Officer in Charge, HBC, CIG, this Agent made a check in the neighborhood of 10001 Dallas Avenue, Silver Springs, Maryland, for the purpose of determining the reputation of Charles Louis Seeger, Jr., father of Subject in this neighborhood.

On May 20, 1943, this Agent interviewed Mrs. Ray A. Turner, 10007 Dallas Avenue, Silver Springs, Maryland, housewife, relative to the reputation of Subject's father in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Turner advised this Agent that she has known Charles Seeger for a period approximating two years; that during this time she has never had a close acquaintance with Mr. Seeger; that Mr. Seeger is away from his home throughout the entire day, and she seldom sees him in the evening; that so far as she knows the Seeger family are loyal American citizens and she has no reason to suspect them of sympathy with the Axis' ideologies; that neither Mr. Seeger nor his wife have ever expressed any radical view points, and have never given her cause to suspect that either Mr. or Mrs. Seeger were engaging in Communistic Activities. Mrs. Turner qualified this statement by saying that her observations of Mr. and Mrs. Seeger were based upon her limited knowledge of them in the neighborhood.

LEADS:

Mrs. Turner advised this Agent that Mrs. Seeger was engaged in writing music books; that in addition to this writing, most of Mrs. Seeger's time was taken up with her three children. There is one boy about ten years of age, and two girls, one an infant, and the other 4-6 years of age. The young Seeger boy plays with Mrs. Turner's boy and is also a member of the same Cub Scout Troop.

Informant stated that she did not know of any clubs, lodges, or associations in which either Mr. or Mrs. Seeger were members. The Seeger family are not known to attend any churches, and their religious denomination is unknown to the informant. According to Mrs. Turner, the Seeger family are very quiet, do not get into trouble, or arguments with the neighbors, and have never created any disturbances in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Turner advised this Agent, she has observed the older son of Mr. Seeger's, whose name she believed to be PETER SEEGER. At the time Mrs. Turner observed PETER SEEGER, he was wearing an Army uniform. Mrs. Turner stated that she did not have an opportunity to talk with PETER SEEGER, however, her small son was playing with the younger son of Mr. Seeger, and this boy told her son that the soldier in uniform was PETER SEEGER. Mrs. Turner stated that she is of the opinion that PETER SEEGER is the son of Mr. Seeger by his first marriage. Mrs. Turner is of the opinion that this was the first occasion that she has ever observed PETER SEEGER in this neighborhood, and she knows nothing at all concerning PETER SEEGER.

In conclusion, Mrs. Turner stated that in her opinion the Seeger family were good American citizens, and she has no reason to question their loyalty to the United States.

that the Seeger family enjoy an excellent reputation in this neighborhood. Mrs. Dewhirst described the Seeger family as being very quiet, and refined. Mrs. Seeger is a musician of some note, and writes her own books on musical subjects. It was the informant's opinion that Mr. Seeger is employed as supervisor of some music project. The informant stated there were three children in the Seeger family. One of the children is a boy, approximately ten years of age and there are also two younger girls.

Based upon her limited knowledge of Seeger family, Mrs. Dewhirst stated that she has never had any reason to question either Mr. or Mrs. Seeger's loyalty to the United States; that there are no indications Mr. or Mrs. Seeger are in sympathy with Axis ideology; that she has never had any reason to suspect either Mr. or Mrs. Seeger of Communistic activity.

Mrs. Dewhirst informed this Agent that she has never seen or heard anyone in the neighborhood mention Mr. Seeger's older son, PETER SEEGER; that she did not know Mr. Seeger had a son in the Army.

The informant stated she was not aware of Mr. or Mrs. Seeger's ever having had any trouble with the neighbors, or having caused a disturbance.

In conclusion, Mrs. Dewhirst informed this Agent Mr. and Mrs. Seeger were planning to move in the near future because the house which they now rent is going to be sold by the Rental Agents.

Character of investigation Disaffection
Status of Case RUC

REASON FOR INVESTIGATION:

Pvt. PETER SEEGER, then undergoing training at the Airplane Mechanics School, Keesler Field, Mississippi, wrote a letter to the California American Legion, criticizing their resolution advocating deportation of all Japanese after the war and barring all Japanese descendants from citizenship.

By First Indorsement on a letter dated April 3, 1943, the Director of Intelligence, 4th S. C., requested the Director of Intelligence, 2nd Service Command, to make complete investigation of Undeveloped Leads as indicated in CI-R1, IV 1526, dated March 25, 1943, which had been previously forwarded.

ADVERSE INFORMATION:

1. SEEGER'S associates include many known Communists. (MEMOS A,C,G,H.)
2. SEEGER'S fiancée is a member of two Communist groups. Her father is Japanese, and her brother is reported to have circulated petitions on behalf of Communist Earl Browder. (MEMOS A,E,F,G)
3. SEEGER was one of the principals of the Almanac Players who spread Communist and anti-Fascist propaganda through songs and recordings. (MEMOS A,H,W).

UNDEVELOPED LEADS: None

REMARKS AND CONCLUSIONS:

This Agent believes the Subject to be ardently anti-Fascist and pro-Communist, as were most of his associates in this area. (MEMOS A,C,H,I). His fiancé is half Japanese and is a member of the Communist infiltrated Japanese-American Committee for Democracy and is employed by Survey Associates, Inc., who publish the magazine SURVEY GRAPHIC which has increasingly followed the Communist Party line. brother has circulated pro-Earl Browder petitions. (MEMOS E,F,G). Former landlord have spoken of their relief at the Subject's departure from their premises. In place unpaid bills were left. (MEMOS B,G)

It is the opinion of this Agent that the Subject's Communist sympathies, his unsatisfactory relations with his landlords, and his numerous Communist and otherwise undesirable friends, make him unfit for a position of trust or reliability.

Re: Interview with George E. Jonas, acquaintance

On May 7, 1943, this Agent interviewed George E. Jonas, 465 Park Avenue, New York, owner of Camp Rising Sun, Walden, New York, and an acquaintance for seven years of the Subject.

Jonas said that he had established Camp Rising Sun 14 years ago for the purpose of giving unusually talented boys an opportunity to develop their talents and qualities of leadership. The boys were selected each year from candidates from about 50 outstanding schools. Schools having courses in particular fields were considered especially. The boys who were chosen paid what they could, and this usually amounted to $4 or $5 a week. They enjoyed all the benefits and activities of a boys' summer camp, plus training in self-government, publication of camp papers, construction of works of art and so forth. The Subject had been suggested to Jonas by the Institute of Musical Art, which is part of the Juilliard Music School where Jonas believes that the Subject's mother had been a music teacher. The Subject's mother impressed Jonas as a nice, but unsympathetic person, and she has been separated from her husband for some time. The husband was a musicologist, which means that he studied the history of music, collected selected manuscripts, and made very little money. In the opinion of Jonas, the Subject's father was a very queer man especially in that he did not consider the Subject to be any of his responsibility. Jonas had known times when the Subject was supposedly living with his family, when he had to sleep on a park bench because the house was full of guests. The father has been married to another woman for some time and now lives in Washington, D. C.

Jonas said the Subject was talented in many things and had unusual ability in painting, writing, music, and cooking. The Subject had attended Camp Rising Sun for the month of July, 1936. At the end of this period, the Subject's father had taken him out of the camp and sent him to do some berry picking for a friend of the father. This inconsiderate gesture had been considered outrageous by Jonas.

After leaving the very select Avon School, the Subject attended Harvard for somewhat less than 2 years, and Jonas believes he left because he showed more interest in student union activities than in his studies. Jonas said the Subject had always leaned toward Communistic thinking, and he believes that this was furthered by the Subject's attendance at a very wealthy school while his parents were almost without money.

Jonas pointed out that he always maintained contact with his boys and the Subject had once invited him to attend the music festival in Greenwich Village, New York. Upon attending, Jonas had found there a small gathering and the entertainment consisted of Italian revolutionary songs, Russian songs, and Communistic labor union songs. In view of this background Jonas had later invited the Subject out to dinner and offered the Subject an opportunity to explain his communistic views. The Subject declined.

Jonas said that the Subject, about a year ago, had written that he would like to get in touch with Reizo Nishikawa, who had been a close friend of the Subject at Camp Rising Sun. Jonas described Nishikawa as a half Japanese who had always had very radical left-wing political beliefs.

Jonas mentioned that the Subject had two older brothers, at least one of whom had attended the Harvard University, and Jonas believes that because of this fact, and with the aid of a liberal scholarship, the Subject also was admitted to Harvard.

Jonas emphasized that the Subject had been as fine a boy as any of the 300 who had attended the Camp, but he said that the Subject had been idealistic, and he could easily see how the Subject might get into trouble especially if he were exposed to other liberals having Communistic beliefs.

AGENT'S NOTE:

It is the opinion of this Agent that Jonas is an unusually excellent Informant. His operation of Camp Rising Sun is a philanthropic gesture, and he exhibited a great deal of feeling for what he called "his boys." Jonas is a well educated and much travelled man who appeared to give a great deal of thought to his opinions.

Re: Interview with W. W. Guthrie, fellow-employee and friend.

On May 1, 1943, this Agent interviewed W. W. Guthrie, 74 Charles Street, New York, N. Y., friend of Subject and formerly a fellow-employee.

Guthrie said that he had first met Subject in the summer of 1941 and he knew that Subject had just left Harvard, but he did not know the reason. Both, Subject and Guthrie, had joined the Almanac Singers, which was a group of musicians who wrote and sang hillbilly songs and ballads for audiences wherever they could be found. Most of the group's engagements were in Union Halls and at Union outings. Guthrie would not state how the Almanacs came into being and he indicated that he did not know the whereabouts of any of the former members. As far as Guthrie knows, the remaining Almanac Players are now in Detroit, Michigan.

According to Guthrie, the Subject was the best musician in the group and was the one who wrote most of the original lyrics for their ballads. Nothing was known of the Subject's parents beyond the fact that the father lived in Washington, D. C., and had been married again, and the mother lived in Florida. All of the members of the family were accomplished musicians and the Subject had learned all he had about music from association with his parents and brothers. Guthrie did not know anything about these brothers, although he thought there was one named John and one named Charles and both were older than the Subject.

Since leaving Harvard, the Subject had had no permanent address, as his employment with the Almanacs had carried him through forty-five states in the United States and their quarters were always chosen from opportunities at hand. This meant that the group had slept on freight trains, under bridges, in churches, and so forth. Guthrie said the Subject had been fond of music and folk dancing and that he liked sports, swimming in particular. Guthrie did not know of any organizations to which the Subject had belonged.

Guthrie said that the Subject had been greatly interested in American folklore and had always been interested in people and what they were doing. The Subject had a great deal of energy and was brilliant, but he was hard to understand. Guthrie attributed this to the fact that the Subject always wanted to see things done in a more efficient and better way than they were being done.

In addition, the Subject loved good organization and was always active in trying to make group endeavors work more smoothly. Guthrie would not name any ~~part~~ of the groups, but said he referred to many kinds of outings or meetings in which people assembled at large gatherings.

The Subject was progressive in his outlook and had liberal views, maintaining that men had the right to organize and bargain collectively. In addition, the Subject was very much in favor of labor unions and most of the Almanacs' bookings were by such unions. According to Guthrie, the Subject's present politics are National Unity. Guthrie emphasized that the Subject is not an overthrower, but he is out to win the war. What the Subject wants personally, is to do Hitler the most damage possible. Guthrie said he had just received a letter stating that the Subject was extremely anxious to be sent on active service and that he could not understand why he was being held inactive in an unassigned group.

Referring to Toshi Ohta, Guthrie said that the girl was the Subject's fiancée and that she had met the Subject shortly before his entrance into the Army of the United States. Guthrie professed to know little about Toshi Ohta, but said she had once been an artist's model and that she ardently hoped for the defeat of the Japanese because of their military aggression. Her father had been ousted from Japan because of his political activities there.

In conclusion, Guthrie stated that he thought the Subject could be trusted in a position of responsibility and that because of the Subject's brilliant mind, it would be a wise thing to utilize the Subject's talents.

AGENT'S NOTE:

This Agent observed hanging on Guthrie's wall, a large guitar on which there appeared the inscription, "This machine kills Fascists." It is this Agent's opinion that this bears out the belief that the Almanac Players were active singing Communist songs and spreading propaganda.

It is this Agent's opinion that Guthrie was truthful as far as he went, but that he knew a great deal more about the Subject's politics and activities than he admitted. Subsequent investigation indicated that he had lived with the Subject for some time and probably knew him very well. (MEMO d)

Re: Interview with Mrs. Mangione, residence check.

On May 3, 1943, this Agent interviewed Mrs. Mangione, 23 Downing Street, New York, N. Y., former landlady of the Subject for about two months.

Mrs. Mangione said that the Subject had leased an apartment in the basement about the middle of May, 1942, ostensibly for the use of the one person. However, the next day, a fellow named Guthrie appeared and although the Subject said he was only visiting, Guthrie established himself permanently with the Subject. A few days later, a girl turned up who also lived with the other two. When Mrs. Mangione remonstrated, she had been told that the new arrival was a sister of one of the boys; however, she believes that the girl's name was Robinson. Mrs. Mangione remembered the girl of slightly Japanese appearance who use to visit the boys. In addition to the persons enumerated above, there were other young men who frequently called and according to Mrs. Mangione, the group was much too noisy most of the time. She characterized them as a disreputable crowd, none of the members of which ever looked neat or clean-cut. Most of them wore lumber jackets and blue denim trousers and frequently appeared carrying guitars and other musical instruments. In July, 1942, the occupants departed and the Subject had said he was about to enter the Army. They had left owing Mrs. Mangione one-half month's rent and the gas company had later appeared trying to collect an unpaid bill for $4.00. Mrs. Mangione stated that although she did not know the occupants personally, she was glad that they had left.

Mrs. Mangione had later received a post card from the Subject which was postmarked Florida.

AGENT'S NOTE:

It is this Agent's opinion that the Robinson girl was an entertainer who appeared with the Almanacs and was not a sister of either the Subject or Guthrie. (MEMO D)

Re: Interview with Max Gordon, acquaintance.

On May 3, 1943, this Agent interviewed Max Gordon, 178 Seventh Avenue, New York, N. Y. Gordon is the owner of a nightclub known as the Village Vanguard.

Gordon said that the Almanacs had appeared in his club on two occasions. They had presented ballads and dances. Gordon considered the Almanac material too leftist for the clientele of the nightclub and for that reason, had not engaged them more often. He stated that the Almanacs had made recordings although he did not know the nature of them (MEMO /). The manager of the Almanacs had been a fellow named Mel (Milt) Lampell. The Subject and a fellow named Guthrie had been the other members of the group who stood out in Gordon's mind. A girl named Bessie Lomax had occasionally appeared as an entertainer, but she has since been married and Gordon does not know where she is. A girl named Toshi Ohta had usually accompanied the group, but had not been an entertainer. Gordon had not heard of a girl named Helen Robinson, but thought that she might have been an accordionist that had appeared with the Almanacs.

In the organization, SNEGER had written lyrics for the songs, produced by the group and had also been a guitar player. Gordon considered him to be the most interesting person of the aggregation and thought it was too bad that the Subject was so enthusiastic about his leftist ideas. Gordon pointed out that Guthrie had a book published called "Bound for Glory" which is autobiographical and which is already near the top of the best seller list. In the book, Guthrie related, that his mother had become insane and his sister had met a violent death. Gordon attributed Guthrie's bitter and cynical outlook on life to the hard life he had lead in his youth. Guthrie had been a close friend of the Subject.

Gordon indicated that there had been other members of the band who constituted a rotating membership and many of them had appeared with the group for only one or two engagements. Gordon while admitting that the material of the group was leftist and inflammatory in nature, stated that the boys were nice fellows and he considered them harmless. For this reason, he could see no reason why the Subject should not be trusted with a position of responsibility.

Re: Interview with Bernard Schultz, acquaintance.

On May 3, 1943, this Agent interviewed Bernard Schultz, 430 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y., owner of the building where the Almanacs formerly had their headquarters.

Schultz said about May, 1942, a girl named Bessie Lomax had appeared and had signed the lease for one year, for a five-room apartment in the rear of the quarters at the above address. Although it was understood that two persons were to occupy the quarters, Schultz said that most of the time there were five or six men occupying the place and also an indeterminate number of women.

Schultz said that the crowd had been a noisy and troublesome crowd and he considered the members individually to be a disreputable, no account type of individual. He believed that there had been several Okalhomans in the group.

The crowd had often been heard playing and singing musical selections and he understood that they were known as the Almanac Players who secured their bookings through the International Workers Order. Schultz remembered the Subject whom he considered to be the leader of the group, but Schultz thought him to be just as erratic as the other members and thought that he stood out only because he had had more education. It was the Subject who wrote the lyrics or the ballads which the Almanac Players presented.

Although the group paid its rent while it was in residence, the members had departed about December, 1942, and Schultz stated that he was glad to see them go in spite of the fact that they had broken their lease.

AGENT'S NOTE:

The quarters described above consisted of two rooms designed as residential quarters in the rear of a dilapidated and virtually deserted office building. This Agent interviewed the other occupant, Benjamin Zenach, who said he knew nothing of the Almanacs, but that this Agent could secure more information by calling the Education Department of the International Workers Order.

Re: Review of G-2 Files: Japanese-American Committee for Democracy

On May 4, 1943, this Agent reviewed the report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, New York City, at G-2, Hq. 2nd Service Command, Governors Island, New York, regarding the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy. The following information is an extract from reports dated as indicated as follows:

Report dated April 15, 1942:

The J.A.C.D. was organized in the fall of 1940 and became relatively more active after December 7, 1941. Membership is offered to all loyal citizens of Japanese ancestry, and Japanese residents loyal to the United States. Its published aim is to promote better Japanese-American understanding and to promote the economic, social, and cultural status of the Japanese community.

The JACD was organized by former members of the Tozai Club (now defunct) who were irked at the control exerted by the Japanese Consul and the attempt of the Tozai officers to bind the nisei to ancient Japanese ideology. The JACD, after December 7, 1941, made a great display of patriotism with blood donor drives and telegrams to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secretary of War, etc., expressing loyalty to the United States.

A confidential informant, however, stated that Yoshitaka Takagi, executive secretary, was a Communist and the JACD was a front. The following names conned from letterheads and literature of the organization represent officers and advisors who are prominent in numerous alleged Communist front organizations:

American
Roger Baldwin, director, ~~American~~ Civil Liberties Union, member 9 organizations
Pearl Buck, author, member 2 organizations
Abner Green, educational director, member 2 organizations
Yasuo Kuniyoshi, instructor, member 3 organizations
Rev. Edward L. Parsons, cleric, member 6 organizations
Bishop Francis J. McConnell, cleric, member 12 organizations
Eatherine Terrill, member 14 organizations
Prof. Franz Boas, professor, member 22 organizations
Dr. Albert Einstein, mathematician, member 5 organizations

The Federal Bureau of Investigation secured a file from the JACD office in which there appeared a page on Council for Democracy letterhead. There appeared in longhand this anonymous statement, "All three are known radicals and Communists. Every action of Communist movement or any activities going on, those 3 appear. Each of them is active--American People's Mobilization for Victory over Fascism." The names of Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Alden Whitman, and Katherine Terrill follow.

Report dated May 5, 1942:

Two agents of the F.B.I. attended a mass meeting sponsored by the JACD at the Hotel Diplomat, New York City, on April 15, 1942. They report on the speakers as follows:

Dr. A. Clayton Powell, negro, spoke mainly against Jim Crowism and racial discrimination; urged an Abraham Lincoln Brigade; and deplored the allotting of menial tasks to negroes in the U. S. Army.

Dr. Kurt Rosenfeld, German refugee, urged the Japanese not to trust Hitler as Hitler was thinking in terms of world domination and considered the Japs as "brown monkeys." Rosenfeld insisted on racial equality.

Pearl Buck, author, spoke mostly of cultural preservation and said that Chinese and Japanese should not be barred from the United States.

Lin Liang Mo, Chinese, said he had fought against the Japanese in the Chinese Army and he knew there was an undercurrent of opposition to Japanese militarism existing in the Japanese Army. He cited instances of poor treatment of Chinese seamen by whites. He finished by singing a song whose dominant phrase was "We are brothers, we are brothers."

Yasuo Kanishi (phonetic), Japanese artist, gave a monotonous speech telling how he had been born in Japan, but that he had no desire to return. He was weakly applauded.

At this point a group of five people, playing guitars, rendered a song, one of which symbolized confusion during an air raid alert; another was "Dancing Around Hitler's Grave;" the third was "Assembly Line Civil;"

Roger Baldwin, of the Civil Liberties Union, spoke against the segregation of Japanese in America and enumerated their hardships.

Bart Shilling spoke as a former member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.

At the close of the meeting, leaflets announcing the 20th anniversary of the Young Communist League were distributed. Others advertised the Russian movie, "The Guerilla Brigade" and the Russian Skazka restaurant. On the street a man was selling the DAILY WORKER when the meeting broke up.

The agents noted that in many instances whites and colored people arrived together and apparently were close friends."

AGENTS NOTE:

It is the opinion of this Agent that the musical rendition was by the Almanac Players of which the Subject of this investigation is a member.

Note: An F.B.I., New York, summary report, dated November 15, 1942, indicated that Baldwin had resigned from the JACD because of its refusal to join in a campaign in support of a test case on the issue of the legality of West Coast evacuations of Nisei. Toshi Ohta (fiancee of the Subject) is listed as a member of the executive board.

Re: Inspection of G-2 Files: Survey Associates, Inc.

On May 3, 1943, this Agent inspected the records of G-2, Hq., 2nd Service Command, Governors Island, New York, regarding Survey Associates, Inc., publishers of Survey Graphic. The Subject's fiancée is said to be an employee of this concern as was her father.

The report indicates that the Survey Graphic in 1937 exhibited "reasonable liberalism." However, in December, 1942, the magazine appeared in all U.S.O. reading rooms and the publisher stated that subscription had been given by an anonymous person.

Review of the magazine at this time disclosed that it was mostly devoted to the Negro problem, and it featured inflammatory racial questions.

The content is otherwise generally rabble rousing and acceptance of Russian methods is a recurrent theme.

Y., regarding Toshi Ohta, reported fiancée of the Subject. (See CI-R1, IV b1526m, dated March 25, 1943). The following information was taken from the record.

During this period he wrote on his South American and United States experiences and continued to give jiu jitsu lessons. He has written articles against present form of government in Japan. He uses pen names, Moto, Taka, and Homare. He married Virginia Berry in Washington, D. C. There is a son Homare Allen Ohta, presently at the College of St. John, Annapolis, Maryland (See below). All members of the family in the U. S. belong to the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy. Ohta states that he never has belonged to the Communist Party.

Re: Inspection of G-2 Files: Almanac Singers and Players

On May 3, 1943, this Agent inspected the records of G-2, Hq., 2nd Service Command, Governors Island, New York, regarding the Almanac Players, a group of musicians to which the Subject belonged. The following information was extracted from the record.

A circular advertisement appeared for the Almanac Singers & Players. This bore endorsements by Mike Gold, writer for the DAILY WORKER; Mickey Horowitz, educational director of the International Workers Order; and the New Masses.

Attention is called to the fact that about June, 1941, a group of seditious records began to be heard. They attempted to stir up resentment for the Selective Service Act and to the entry of the United States into the war. Names included: "Get Out and Stay Out of the War;" "Jim Crow;" "G as for Conscription;" "Washington Breakdown;" etc. These records were believed to have been produced in New York, New York, and they were advertised and recommended by the DAILY WORKER.

Another report dated April 14, 1942, stated that Woody Guthrie (friend of the Subject) was a member of the group. The group's propaganda disseminated by song and ballad. The lyrics were in keeping with the Communist Party line.

Mention is made of an unidentified young woman, associated with the group, who is of Japanese extraction, and who is said to have once been a Russian-Japanese translator for the Japanese government. She was exiled from Japan because of Communistic activities.

Re: Inspection of G-2 Files concerning Eli Jaffe

On May 3, 1943, this Agent inspected the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, New York at the Headquarters, 2nd Service Command, Governors Island, New York, regarding one Eli Jaffe, who is reported to be a friend of the Subject (CI-RL, IV 1526m, dated March 25, 1943). The following information was secured from the records:

Report dated May 2, 1942:

Eli Jaffe, alias Charles Daniels, Clarence Daniels, James Elliott, Eli Jaffes, Frank Wise. F.B.I. agents saw Jaffe at a celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Young Communist League at Manhattan Center, 34th Street and Eighth Avenue, New York City, on April 20, 1942.

Report dated November 7, 1942:

Jaffe married Wilma Esther Lewis of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on 9/27/42. She was active in the Young Communist League in Oklahoma City. Jaffe's New York address is given as 322 West 15th Street. The DAILY OKLAHOMAN stated that Robert Wood, former Oklahoma State Secretary of the Communist Party, Ina Wood, his wife, Alan Shaw, present secretary of the Party, and Eli Jaffe, former head of the Young Communist League in Oklahoma, appeared in appeal arguments before the Criminal Court of Appeals in Oklahoma City on September 9, 1942, in a Criminal Syndicalism case. Jaffe's father was Lithuanian, his mother, Russian. His occupation, as it appears on his marriage license, is that of newspaper writer.

Report dated April 20, 1943:

Jaffe and his wife are now living in Oklahoma as the Oklahoma State Criminal Court of Appeals has refused to allow him to leave the state, pending disposition of the criminal syndicalism charge. The original charge that he is a Communist has been reversed on technical grounds, but he is still charged with the sale of Communist literature. Jaffe is now living on the farm of his wife's parents on the outskirts of Oklahoma City. He is reported to want to be classified as 1A instead of 4F so he can enter the Army of the United States.

Re: Inspection of records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation: Almanac Players

On May 1, 1943, this Agent inspected the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, New York, New York, and the following information appeared in the records.

An article appeared on January 1, 1943, in the NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM, quoting the DAILY WORKER as stating that the Almanac Singers are the pride of the Communist Party.

Prior to the entry of the United States into the war, the Almanacs sang songs condemning the President and Congress. They were against conscription with songs like "Every Fourth Boy Will Be Plowed Under." Since our entry into the war, they have urged further aid to Russia.

It is believed that this organization is subsidized by the Communist Party, and it is frequently praised by the "DAILY WORKER." The Almanacs now travel under the auspices of the Office of Civilian Defense, entertaining defense workers and Communist meetings.

Nicholas Ray Lomax, alias Raymond Nicholas Krenzle, 235 East 22nd Street, New York City, is a member. He is also program director for the Office of War Information.

Bess Brown Lomax, formerly 242 East 19th Street, New York City, and 577 Second Boulevard, Detroit, Michigan, was a member of the Almanacs. She is now employed by the Office of War Information. She was born January 21, 1921, in Austin, Texas.

Other members are Joe Bowers, Pete Bowers, Siss Cunningham, Arthur Steon, and Dutch Bowers.

Remarks and Conclusion:

Investigation revealed that Subject was in Miami, Florida, for approximately one month during 1939, and was at Miami Beach, Florida, for a short period during Subject's Army basic training. Further investigation revealed that Subject resided at 1909 1/2 1st Ave., Birmingham, Alabama, at time of Subject's registration for the draft. Only two persons knew the Subject. Due to short period time that Subject was in Miami Beach and in Birmingham, Alabama, very little information was obtained regarding Subject.

Recommendations:

Due to the short period of time that Subject has been in Miami Beach, and in Birmingham, Alabama, and in view of the fact that very little information has been found concerning Subject, this Agent recommends that the status of the case remain pending in the 4th Service Command until all undeveloped leads have been exploited in all Service Commands.

Re: Address Check; Room 211
1909 1/2 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

On the above date, this agent checked the address of Room 211 at 1909 1/2 First Ave., No., Birmingham, Ala., PETER SREHER having given such address, minus indicating that it was North First Ave., in the papers which he gave to his draft board at the time of registration at Scottsboro, Ala.

There is an office building at 1909 1/2 First Ave., North, Birmingham, Ala., but in this building there is no such room number as 211.

A check of the city directories shows that there is also a 1909 1/2 First Ave., South, but this is a small mercantile building, and there are no separate rooms listed.

Agent's Note: It is noted that the local Communist Party headquarters in Birmingham, Ala. where Bob Hall, the party secretary for District #16, has his office is in the Clark Building, in room 211 of that building. The Clark Building is about three blocks from 1909 1/2 First Ave. No., but its side entrance has a similar number on Third Ave., No., this being 1920 or 1920 (the number is not on the door). This information is set down here to indicate a possible unconscious act on Subject's part in putting down an address which was similar to one with which he was quite likely familiar.

REMARKS AND CONCLUSIONS:

This Officer is of the opinion, based on the facts contained in this report, that Subject has possibilities of divided loyalty to the extent that a change in the Communist Party line would result in potential subversion.

Subject is intensely loyal at this time. He is eager to join the battle actively against Fascism, and is applying himself to improve his military and technical knowledge to be of greatest service.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~REMARKS AND CONCLUSIONS: (Cont'd)

Against this is Subject's background and his continued associations with military personnel at this station who are proven Communists. Subject professes that he was a good friend of three persons tried for sedition in Oklahoma and admits that he, personally, barely escaped prosecution for similar charges. He was a member of the Almanac Singers, wandering troubadours, a group which appears to be either a direct or an indirect instrument of the Communist Party. His admiration for Russia includes far more than mere admiration of that country's military stamina.

In addition, Subject's mind is conditioned by his love for a woman of Japanese-American descent, who is presently connected with an organization infiltrated with Communists. While this relationship appears on a high plane, this Officer believes it to be unorthodox and one which might lead to divided loyalty in the event this country's treatment of the Japanese were not in accord with the views of himself or the woman he expects to marry.

While at this station, Subject has made contact with known Communists and he is sympathetic to their problems and the so-called discrimination against them. These associations have added rather than detracted to his communistic idealism. As an entertainer, his songs have been colored subtly toward idealistic classlessness.

Therefore, despite Subject's intelligence and desire to apply himself to the destruction of the enemy, this officer believes that enemy to be Fascism and not necessarily any enemy of the United States.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

This Officer deems Subject potentially subversive within the meaning of W.D. letter dated November 9, 1942, File AG 014.511 (11-3-42) OB-S-B-M, Subject: "Disposition of Potentially Subversive Personnel."

Request Subject's transfer from the Army Air Forces.

Recommend complete background investigation and that Subject remain under surveillance while case is pending.

Informant also stated that Subject performs well his assigned tasks, seldom complains about army life and possesses no unusual characteristics; that Subject keeps pretty much to himself and is uncommunicative, never referring to his family, any girl friends, the war or anything else other than the business at hand; that Subject is interested in music and is quite a good banjo player; that Subject spends quite a bit of his leisure typing and reading, the nature of which is not known by the informant; that he has no knowledge concerning Subject's correspondence; that he knows nothing derogatory concerning Subject.

Private Moldovan stated that he and Peter Seeger were barracks mates; that Peter Seeger was extremely liberal in his views and was either a Communist or had been under strong Communistic influence; that Subject corresponded with a Japanese-American (half Japanese-half American), Miss Toshi Ohta, 76 Washington Square, South, New York City, who Subject stated was active in an organization called the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy; that this organization bore every stamp of a Communist front organization.

Operator's Note: Carl Moldovan has been under investigation by this office for disaffection. Very shortly after the above interview, Moldovan was deemed potentially subversive under W. D. Re : Interview with Drusilla Adams, Acquaintance.

On February 25, 1943, this Officer interviewed Miss Drusilla Adams, civil service examiner at this station, and who resides at the White House Hotel, Biloxi, Mississippi, regarding Subject.

Miss Adams stated that on two occasions she had met a young soldier called "Pete" at informal social gatherings given at the Back Bay House, a former private home and now used as a rehearsal studio on Keesler Field by members of the Recreation and Art Sections of the Special Services Department, Keesler Field.

This Officer described Subject to Miss Adams and she stated without question that the "Pete" referred to was Peter SEEGER.

The conversations in each instance were along intellectual lines, Miss Adams stated, with most of the discussion centering on treatment of the Negro in the South.

Miss Adams stated that she had not seen Subject since these meetings and declared she was not in a position to determine Subject's loyalty, other than that he, along with other soldiers present, presented rather liberal views.

Those present on the two occasions who she did know were Walter Scott Neff, David Sackson and Nick Demas, who are constant associates.

OFFICER'S NOTE: Pfc. Walter Scott NEFF, 32511024, Medical Detachment, is a member of the Communist Party and is deemed potentially subversive by this Office. NEFF is a psychologist, attached to the Station Hospital.

Sgt. David SACKSON, 32230674, 394th Technical School Squadron, Keesler Field, Mississippi, indicates extreme communistic tendencies and is under investigation by this office to determine potential subversion. SACKSON is a violin player, attached to the Recreation Section, Special Services.

Pfc. Nick DEMAS, 36526152, 2nd Academic Group, Keesler Field, Mississippi, also indicates communistic tendencies, having been a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade and left-wing union affiliations, and is also under investigation. DEMAS is an electrician in the Air Mechanics School, Keesler Field.

This Officer believes Subject's contact with other Communists and Communist sympathizers, all of whom live at widely separated points on Keesler Field and whose duties call for no normal military contact with each other, has resulted in continued stimulation and interest in Communism and Communist doctrines.

Subject: Peter SEEGER, (Cont'd)

This officer believes further that it is no accident that members of this group, which included others also under investigation for the same reasons, have gravitated toward each other. There has been no direct supervision over the Back Bay House, where SACKSON lives with another soldier, and it provides an ideal meeting place, free from outside interference. All activities at the Back Bay House are now under investigation by this office.

The conversations at which Miss Adams was present have no other significance, as she was an outsider, but the fact that she identified Subject as being present on two occasions indicates the possibility of Subject's close association with others under investigation for the same reasons.

Miss Adams holds a responsible position on Keesler Field, has an excellent family and educational background in Atlanta, Georgia, and a Provost Marshal check reveals nothing derogatory.

Re : Interview with Subject.

On March 4, 1943, this Special Operator, acting as a member of the Classification Section interviewed PETER SEEGER, ASN 34335466, Subject, for the purpose of disclosing any potential subversiveness.

Subject stated that at the present time he is classified as a graduate of the Keesler Field, Mississippi AM school, Air Corps Unassigned and that he has been working in the Orderly Room of his squadron. Subject said that he could have no idea and he has no idea of why he has not been sent to some air field as an aviation mechanic. Subject stated that he is the last one of his group of men who graduated from AM School in December, 1942. Subject stated that he does not mind being held on the field, for since he plays an old-fashioned five-string banjo and plays it well, he has decided that he might be taken into the Special Services Department here at Keesler Field, for he believes that his musical ability can be used. Subject stated that at the present time he is making attempts to become part of the Special Services Department.

Subject stated that he was born in New York and that that city is his home at the present time although he has spent a great deal of time during the past few years as sort of a wandering musician. It was because of this wandering that he was inducted into the Army in Alabama, for Subject was in Alabama at the time he was supposed to register for the Selective Service and at the time set for his induction he was in the North but returned to the South to be inducted. SEEGER stated that he is not married but that he is engaged to a New York girl whose mother was born in Virginia and whose father was born in Japan.

Concerning his fiancée, Subject stated that her father is a refugee from Japan and that he came to this country because he disagreed with the militarists of Japan and was consequently given the choice of remaining in Japan and being executed or leaving Japan and being allowed to live. Subject stated that the girl's father chose the latter.

When questioned as to whether or not there is some sort of Japanese-American organization in New York, Subject stated that such an organization does exist under the title of the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy and that this organization has such sponsors as Pearl Buck and Albert Einstein. Subject stated that the State Department has taken quite an interest in the organization and has several times provided speakers for meetings held by the JACD. This organization, according to Subject, was organized for the purpose of showing this country that the Japanese who were born here are one hundred per cent American. Subject said that resolution had been passed by the organization in order to indicate the loyalty of the "Nisei" to the U.S. Subject said that members of the JACD have assisted in combating the threat of the Black Dragon

Keesler Field, Mississippi,

Subject: Peter SEEGER (Cont'd)

Society that has been active in the new settlements provided by the Government for the Japanese who have been placed in them.

Concerning a resolution supposedly passed by an organization of the West Coast, Subject stated that he believed that a group called the "United Farmers" or some such organization had passed a resolution to the effect that all Japanese be deported to Japan after the close of the war. However, Subject does not believe that the majority of the people of the West Coast would want to see this happen.

Operator's Notes:

It is this Operator's opinion that Subject was truthful in all answers that he gave this Operator and that he made no attempt to withhold anything from this Operator during the interview. Subject spoke freely concerning the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy and made no attempt to discolor in any way or in any way praise this organization. From all indications, Subject has no idea that anything he has done or any associations he might have had in the past or might have at the present time would be cause to hold him on this field or keep him under surveillance at any time.

Re : Examination of Keesler Field "Free for All" radio script of Dec. 17, 1942.

On March 12, 1943 this Special Operator examined the script of the radio program "Free For All" which was broadcast from War Department Theatre No. 1, Keesler Field, Mississippi, on December 17, 1942, from 1900 to 1930. The program was broadcast by remote control through radio station WHL, New Orleans, Louisiana, under the auspices of the Public Relations Department of Keesler Field, Mississippi.

Subject was interviewed on the program by one of the personnel of Keesler Field by the name of Proctor. Proctor's complete name did not appear in the script. In the course of the interview Subject stated that he played a five string banjo and had always been interested in playing and singing songs. He said that he brought his banjo with him to Keesler Field and while here at Keesler Field he had taught some of the men a few of the songs which he knew. Subject said that he had learned his songs all over the United States; that he had been born in New York but had never lived there much; that he learned singing and his songs in the South and the West, in "barrooms, churches and what have you". "I've slept under some of the best bridges in the country", said Subject.

Continuing, Subject declared that he had been drafted into the army but before being drafted he had been with a group of young people like himself who called themselves the "Almanac Singers". The Almanac Singers never made any money, said Subject, but they enjoyed themselves. They made up songs about what was going on in the world and got the words for their songs right out of the newspaper headlines. Subject then said that he would sing them a song about an average guy writing a letter to the President of the United States. Before singing the song Subject said: "Some of us are here because we had friends and relatives at Pearl Harbor. Some are here because a committee of our neighbors got together, but here are some reasons all of us are here". Subject then sang his song: "Dear Mr. President".

The song concerned an "ordinary guy" with wife, kids, etc., who likes to see a movie and take a drink every now and then, and who liked to be free and to say what he thinks. The general theme of the song is that we must tick Hitler and keep our freedom. The song continues by declaring that this country is not perfect but will be some day, and then Subject says in the song that he wants to fight for a better America, better laws; that he wants to fight so that we won't have any more Jim Crow laws which say that you can't do this because you are a Jew, or you can't come in here because you are a negro, or you can't work here because you are a Union man.

Re : Japanese-American Committee for Democracy.

On March 25, 1943, this Special Operator examined Summary of Information from the War Department, W.I.D., dated February 13, 1943, which Summary of Information was evaluated as being reliable and Subject of which is Japanese-American Committee for Democracy.

It appeared from this Summary of Information that the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy, formerly known as the Committee for the Democratic Treatment of Japanese Residents in the Eastern States, was formally originated in the fall of 1940 and has become more active since the Japanese attack on December 7, 1942.

The organization is composed chiefly of American citizens of Japanese descent and Japanese nationals. The avowed objectives of this organization are to educate American-born Japanese to engage actively in the rights of the citizens of a democracy, and to foster among Nisei and Japanese nationals who are sympathetic to the United States a program of education in democratic principles and of support of the United States Government defense interests.

On April 14, 1942, "a mass victory rally" was held by the organization at the Hotel Diplomat, New York City. The main theme of the meeting was the necessity for a peoples army which would include no racial discriminations or "Jim Crowism". It was reported that Communistic literature was available after the meeting.

It is known that many of the officers and advisors of the Japanese-American Committee for Democracy are members of allegedly Communistic front organizations.

OPERATOR'S NOTE:

Dear Sir:

The American Legion headquarters has forwarded to this office the following letter received from Private PETER SEEGER, 306 TSS, Flight C, Keesler Field, Mississippi:

"Dear Sirs -

"I felt shocked, outraged, and disgusted to read that the California American Legion voted to 1) deport all Japanese after the war, citizen or not, 2) Bar all Japanese descendants from citizenship!!

"We, who may have to give our lives in this great struggle -- we're fighting precisely to free the world of such Hitlerism, such narrow jingoism.

"If you deport Japanese, why not Germans, Italians, Rumanians, Hungarians, and Bulgarians?

"If you bar from citizenship descendants of Japanese, why not descendants of English? After all, we once fought with them too.

"America is great and strong as she is because we have so far been a haven to all oppressed.

"I felt sick at heart to read of this matter.

Dearest Peter

Darling you don't know how sorry I am that the Japanese question has come up and is bothering you....not you personally, of course, but what you are doing in the army. Frankly, I think that combination of Almanac's etc. and me is going to keep you from going over seas. Not that I mind that..from the danger point of view...But what good is your going through all this training and having the government spend so much money on you..if they don't allow you to use it.. for the use that it supposed to be for.. Hope you didn't say too much about Daddy's banishment and the cause. Nowadays it is just as bad to be too progressive as it is to be a militarist.

Am enclosing the summaries of the Forum we had on Japanese Americans in the Victory program.. at the Hotel Commodore. Thought you might be interested in how we are getting along.

In the future I would be a little careful what you put in letters ...
But put plenty of love in them..

Darling...I miss you muchly.. and want you more than ever.

SUMMARY OF THE PROCEEDINGS

Forum on Japanese Americans in the Victory Program, Hotel Commodore, New York, February 13, 1943, co-sponsored by Japanese American Committee for Democracy, American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.....

Abner Green...citing the recent move of the Senate reactionaries under Senator Reynold's leadership to "investigate" conditions in the War Relocation Centers as an example of the dangerous interest that such forces have in the Japanese American problem, he pointed out that such an "investigation" was in reality an attack not only on the Japanese American evacuees, but also an attempt to discredit the War Relocation Authority, a Government agency carrying out its job as an authorized part of the President's war program.

Blake Clark, OCD, Washington, D.C.,.....quoting from the records of Nisei in the Army and from their superiors, from the FBI, from all sources who had constant contact with Japanese Americans, particularly in Hawaii, he stated the conviction that as a group there was no doubting the integrity of these people nor any question as to which side has their support in this war.

(Donald Henderson advocated giving Am. Japs full democratic rights because this would be a factor influencing the instituting a real democratic government in Japan after the war, and not just a puppet and a sham. He felt the Japs would be inspired by our treatment of their brothers over here, and would become good democrats after we'd beaten them)

John C. Baker, Chief, Office of Reports, War Relocation Authority, Washington, D.C....described living conditions (in relocation centers) as at a "minimum standard of decency," providing food and shelter, adequate care in cases of sickness, education for the children, and work in maintenance of center life....

Arthur Upham Pope, Chairman of the Committee on National Morale...noted the fact that certain journalists had attempted to "cast suspicion and "I would have been very interested in seeing Farewell to Arms. I never did see it, although I read parts of the book. It's funny that movie owners should show it again in these days of war. You shouldn't wonder though, why wars are fought "over and over again, without much advancement." Dear, you know very well, and if you don't, you'd better ask Takahashi right away about the causes of fascism and the nature of imperialistic expansion! The fact that so few of those peace movies and plays never explained this is one reason maybe we are at war now. They would have been really important works of art had they gone all the way, instead of stopping halfway in their condemnation of war. They didn't condemn the causes. But of course, how could they, when they were produced by a billion dollar capitalistic industry.

"The trouble is, as communists have pointed out again and again, pacifism isn't enough. The same psychology that said, 'how true' to Farewell To Arms and the like, said, let us stay peaceful and not take any hand to stop invasion of innocent countries by the Fascists. (That's a broad statement and maybe a little unfair to some.)

"But the great lesson of the past twenty years must certainly be this which we have always said: that Pacifism is not enough."

The letter itself contains nothing of interest to this office but several newspaper clippings of some significance were enclosed with letter.

1. An AP account of Secretary of Navy Knox's appearance before a Senate Committee reports that Knox states that "we'll probably impose upon her" (referring to Japan) "that she'll never have another fleet-- she has exhibited that she is not qualified to have one" and that it will be the duty of the U. S. to police the Pacific and to prevent any aggressive power from raising its head there after the War. There appears on the margin of this clipping written in ink the following comment: "Impossible to impose such conditions for more than one generation."
2. Copy of letter to the Editor of the Miami Daily News entitled "Russia and the Baltic States" written by Charles Wade. It discusses and defends Russia's right to the Baltic States which she took two years ago. No specific states were mentioned.
3. A newspaper picture of Russian peasants once again on liberated soil with rakes and other implements of farming.
4. Copy of letter to the Editor of the Miami Daily News entitled "Co-operation With Russia" written by D. Ross of Miami. The general theme stated is that Russia has saved the world from fascist domination and that we should co-operate with her. It points out that Lord Beaverbrook, Willkie, Averill Harriman, Dot Parker of the New York Times, Leland Stowe and Ben Robertson of P.M. have urged this action and that certainly they could not be accused of favoring Communism.

"It is possible that I am being held here because of my former connections with the Almanac Singers and because of my engagement to a Japanese-American, but I doubt it. I have never tried to hide either fact and the latter especially, I believe, the Military Intelligence knows of."

Red Press Plays Up Lend-Lease

MOSCOW, March 15,--(AP)----

Pravda, Communist party organ, devoted half its foreign news section today to a report made by Lend-Lease Administrator Edward A. Stettinius, Jr., March 7, on weapons and materials sent to Russia under the lend-lease agreement. The account was contained in a Tass news exchange dispatch from Washington and was dated March 11.

A digest of the report was first printed in Moscow on March 12. Prominent display also was given to the press conference of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in Washington and to the latest Flying Fortress raid on Western France.

causing much discontent among people on the West Coast suffering food shortages.

Please note that we evacuees have been suffering shortages since last May. We mothers have been frankly worried about the vitamin-deficient meals every since we were first confined, and have had to supplement our diet with purchases from the outside, of meat, butter, eggs and fruit, which have never been adequate. It might interest you to know that our supper tonight consisted of a bowl of sweetened bean soup, which most Nisei do not like, two pieces of vinegared beets and two slices of pickled radish. Tea and rice completed the meal'....

We evacuees would gladly and willingly suffer food shortages on the Outside if we were permitted to live in normal communities. Many of our sons and brothers are in the armed forces of the only nation we know and it is with real pride we would make "sacrifices" so that our soldiers should remain the best-fed in the world,....

On March 15, 1943, a letter, addressed to Subject, from 3374 S. W. 25th St., Miami, Fla., signed "M" and postmarked "Coral Gables, Fla., March 13, 1943, 2:30 PM", was intercepted at Keesler Field, Mississippi. Said letter contained the following newspaper article by Associated Press.

THREE COMMUNISTS WIN REVERSAL

Oklahoma City, Feb. 17.--The Criminal court of appeals Wednesday reversed convictions of three defendants in Oklahoma's 1940 Communism trials that attracted national attention.

The decision wiped out sentences of 10 years in the penitentiary and five thousand dollar fines assessed against the trio on charges that they were guilty of criminal syndicalism by belonging to the Communist Party.

The defendants were Allan Shaw, who was Oklahoma City secretary of the party; Mrs. Ina Wood, wife of Robert Wood who was state secretary of the party, and Eli Jaffe, who was a young party worker and lately in newspaper work in New York.

Wood's conviction and similar sentence is also before the appellate court for review.

The main opinion of 37 pages written by Presiding Judge Dick Jones found no competent evidence to show the party sought change by force and violence, and no proof that the defendants or the party advocate principles stated in a vast number of books admitted in the trial.

Nevertheless, it said, if the defendants believe in such doctrines, they should realize that the juries who "unanimously and speedily gave them the maximum sentence under the law were speaking the sentiments of this community in general and that the public is practically unanimous against such doctrines and will not condone such advocations".

"I saw Dave Sackson today. He is just back from a 2 wk. furlough (that is the standard length of them around here). He was running around a lot of the time seeing people in N. Y. & Washington, to get to the bottom of the Special Services Division (morale division-education & recreation) set-up. He is a strange half-grown half-this & half-that situation. Morale work has become so important in the eyes of the brasshats especially when they see its success in German & Russian armies (I hate to class the 2 together, but Germany (in imitation of Russia, largely) & Russia have really gone all out in singing work, etc. History will tell, of course, how effective Germany's lying propaganda is, but all admit the German troops have pretty good morale."

"Did you read of Eli Jaffe, & 2 others being acquitted in the Oklahoma sedition cases? They are good friends of mine. Woody & I came within about a month of being hooked into that round up too. We were singing in Okla. city a little before!

I wonder if this will have any affect on the Bridges case.

I think you met Eli Jaffe once, over at Almanac House. A quiet, nice, Brooklyn boy."

Operator's Note: Sackson is Sergeant David Sackson, ASN 3230674, 394th Technical School Squadron, Keesler Field, Mississippi, who is under investigation by this office for Communist sympathies. This operator invites attention to the fact that Subject states he is a good friend of the Communists named in Exhibit XIV and that Communist Jaffe has been at Almanac House, headquarters of Almanac Singers, of which Subject was a member.

The writer states that recently he has appeared at several bookings with the Almanac Singers.

He also encloses a copy of a song, the words to which are as follows:

GET TOGETHER, COME ONE, SISTERS

Oh, come folks go by color
And some folks go by the man
But if we want to win to victory
We must go hand in hand. So get together

I've been troubled
I've been tried
I've been ostracized
But if we want to win to victory
We must go side by side. So get together

I've been jimerced all over this land
Ever since Old Black Joe
But I'm gonna pick up my sword and shield
And I ain't gonna run no more. So get together

Freedom, freedom, that's my aim
Fight for it till I die
But till we fighting side by side
I won't be satisfied. So get together.

Chorus

Come one, sisters, join all together
Got together, come one sisters
We've got to defend this land.

"I have sung on a number of the local shows with some success. The guys like homemade music, I guess. But a number of others also like the politics I throw into the songs, I think."

"Concerning Keesler, I have learned a great deal here. You learn to get along with all kinds. Even when bumming around I could pick my own companions. But here I meet the opinions of every kind of American, it seems like. Good practice, too, in a way, for in my head I think how best to proselytize them! I suppose I am incorrigibly narrow."

"I sure wish I knew more of armies of the other countries, to compare. Books around here are just military handbooks, and tell nothing of the life in the English, German, Russian, Chinese, Indian, etc., armies. I wonder in the end how big their influence is upon the life of a people. Does being in the army permanently change one's thinking habits? I don't think so-not much. At least not this army. There is one thing, though. The mere fact that many races (except Negro) and nationalities and political beliefs live side by side in barracks with no discrimination...that is a good working of democracy. The terrible blot on all our life, of course, is the Negro problem, and the refusal of so many Americans to face it. Incidentally, Toshi's father has been working on Survey Graphic, and she sent me a copy of the November issue, called "Color, the Unfinished Work of Democracy"-and though all the articles or most of them, at least, were written by professors and liberals, in all it was a very interesting number. See if you can get a copy."

"Sure is one big problem though, this gaining equality of women. I suppose in this country the problem is not so big as in Russia."

"I do believe though that this problem, like that of the Negro, will really be changed during my lifetime, and this is something to look forward to. You'd be surprised how many people cheered Dear Mr. President because of the democratic politics in it."

"Among others here, or near here, is a girl we used to know in the workshop, Sarah B. (and I don't know the rest of her last name. Anyway, she's down here with her husband, and has a new last name.) Her husband is being detained here for investigation by M.I. because he spent part of his life in Germany. Though he is perfectly loyal, needless to say.
